An important part of leadership is understanding that your fruit often grows
on other people's trees.

Todd Adkins

Emotional intelligence is delivering your best on your worst day.

A photograph of a wooden boardwalk with railings, leading through a dense forest. The boardwalk is made of dark wooden planks and has wooden railings on both sides. The forest is lush with green trees and foliage, creating a serene and natural atmosphere. The lighting is soft, suggesting a slightly overcast day or a shaded forest environment.

don't let success go to your head.
don't let failure go to your heart.

A person stands triumphantly on the peak of a jagged, dark rock formation. The sun is positioned directly behind the person, creating a bright, glowing halo effect. The background reveals a vast, hazy landscape of rolling mountain ranges under a clear blue sky. The overall mood is one of achievement and reaching new heights.

The more seriously you take your growth,
the more seriously people will take you.

John C. Maxwell

Every time you speak,
you are creating leadership.

The first responsibility of a leader is to define reality; the last is to say thank you. In between,
the leader is a servant.

- Max de Pree

“I use positive psychology in my organization because the research shows that it works. If the research showed that yelling at my employees worked better, I would do that instead.”

DON CLIFTON, FORMER CEO, GALLUP ORGANIZATION

A background image of a foggy landscape with several bare trees. The fog is thick and white, covering the ground and lower parts of the trees. The sky is a pale, hazy blue. The overall mood is somber and quiet.

Where there is no vision,
the people perish.

Proverbs 29:18

A close-up, low-angle shot of several rowers in a boat, viewed from the side. They are wearing blue long-sleeved shirts and are pulling on black oars with yellow handles. The oars are in the water, and the boat is moving forward, creating a wake. The background is a bright, overcast sky.

Without a purpose
bigger than yourself,

you risk serving only yourself.

Your life is only worth
the impact
you have on others.
